CULINARY ARTS & SUSTAINABLE FOODWAYS

HANNAH WOLF

*Registered Dietitian
Nutrition Instructor*

My name is Hannah, I am a Registered Dietitian currently working as an outpatient dietitian at the Jimmy Fund.

After receiving my Bachelor of Science at the University of New Hampshire, I went on to complete my Dietetic Internship at Montana State University (MSU) and later received my Master's degree in Dietetic Systems Leadership from MSU. I am grateful to have worked with various patient populations throughout my career thus far, including individuals diagnosed with cancer, diabetes, gastrointestinal disorders, and heart disease. I am passionate about utilizing nutrition therapy to prevent and manage chronic illnesses while translating nutrition science into tangible concepts.

I am excited to combine nutrition science with the culinary arts to provide prospective students the opportunity to transform health through delicious food.
